1. Introduction

Thomas KIPLING was, in the 1870s, an apparently successful photographer and hotelier in Barnard Castle in County Durham. Yet, with his wife and eight children, he emigrated first to Texas cattle country and, later, to the city of Victoria on Vancouver Island.

This etude examines Thomas's family's double migration and the fate of their descendents across the Atlantic, with a view to confirming hearsay reasons for the movements.

An outline descendant chart is appended to assist in placing individuals mentioned.

2. Background

Thomas (b 1827) was a son of William Kipling, a thatcher, from Cotherstone in Romaldkirk parish, then in the North Riding of Yorkshire<sup>1</sup>.

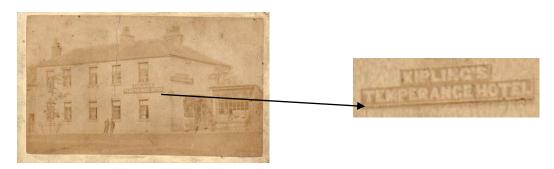

The 1861 census of England and Wales reveals Thomas living in the nearby town of Barnard Castle, where he is trading as a "photographic artist". An example of his work is shown below (left and centre)<sup>2</sup>. Thomas made professional visits to the Lake District, as the advertisement at right below shows.

Thomas had married Anne HALL, the daughter of a carpet weaver from a nearby village, at the register Office in Barnard Castle in November 1858<sup>4</sup>. They had eight children over the succeeding 20 years: Margaret Hannah, Mary Jane<sup>5</sup>, William, John, Thomas<sup>6</sup>, Charley, Anne and David<sup>7</sup>.

Thomas had a brother, Tobias (a tailor), who was in 1871 married (to Jane) with children (Margaret, William and Mary) and a step-son, Thomas<sup>9</sup>. A further daughter, Emily, was born in  $1873-4^{10}$ .

Sunderland Daily Echo and Shipping Gazette - Saturday 24 May 1879

Family history<sup>12</sup> tells that Thomas and Anne emigrated to Sealey, Texas, as they were concerned about the ability of their eight children to find suitable opportunities in England. They may well have been attracted by the opportunities highlighted in contemporary local newspapers, such as those below.

To THE EDITOR OF THE "NORTHERN ECHO."

Six.—I have received a letter from a brotherin-law who has recently gone to Texas, and he says that on his arrival there were hundreds of amployers from all parts wanting toempley them.
Elack miths, enginemen, and others were specially employed.

Northern Echo - Monday 02 December 1878

Another hot country which is exciting the expectations of emigrants is Texas. We have been inundated with letters about Texas, which it is quite impossible for us to publish. Mrs Sarau Panker last week sent us a voluminous epistle general, addressed to all her correspondents in the North, in which she extols the advantages of Toxas as affording to all human beings the very maximum of human felicity at a minimum of expense. To expedite the exodus to the new Eden across the Atlantic a Texas Freehold Farm and Emigration Union has been formed, with Mr Thos. Elders, farmer, of Hart, in the county of Durham, as superintendent of a projected settlement, in which every settler is to start with eighty acres of good farming land, house, cattle, milch lows, pigs, chickens, and an American sooking store-the lot valued at £200. &lt;sup>12</sup> 'Family history' was provided by Brian Kipling from notes, recordings and recollections of conversations with various members of the family.

Indeed, might they even have been part of the group mentioned below?

The National Steamship Co.'s steamer Helvetia, which sailed from the Mersey yesterday, conveyed no fewer than 80 farmers, who, dissatisfied with agricultural prospects in England, are emigrating to Texas. The majority of the emigrants were from the northern districts of Yorkshire and the southern division of Durham.

Sunderland Daily Echo and Shipping Gazette - Thursday 28 August 1879

The family's immediate fate, however, is less clear, as they have not been found in the 1880 US census. Family history relates that Thomas and his elder sons set up as horse-breakers and ranchers in Sealey. The research below corroborates that they were in Sealey by 1883, when Mary Jane married a John McLean<sup>13</sup>.

Mary Jane KIPLING (b. January 1860, d. 1938)

Mary Jane KIPLING was born January 1860 in ENGLAND, and died 1938. She married John McLEAN on 1883 in TEXAS.

The date is manually corrected to 1891 in the Kipling family copy of the book and, as the 1900 US census records John Kipling as a saloon keeper in Eagle Pass, Texas, right on the Mexican border, it is most likely him<sup>15</sup>.

Tobias and family (excluding Ann's son, Thomas) do appear in the 1880 US census, although at Towanda in Pennsylvania<sup>16</sup>. He is tailoring still. Subsequent censuses and maritime records hint at subsequent crossings and recrossings of the Atlantic<sup>17</sup>. The family had returned to Yorkshire by the time of the 1881 English census (maybe Pennsylvania did not work out)<sup>18</sup>. At the time of the 1891 UK census, they have with them their six-year old granddaughter Maud BING<sup>19</sup>, born in Austin County, Texas (the county in which Sealey sits), suggesting that there was some proximity between the brothers' families for at least some of the 1880s.

4. Onwards to Canada

The 1891 Canadian census finds Thomas, still a photographer, and Anne living in Victoria, BC, along with William, Thomas jun., Charley, David and Annie<sup>20</sup>. Later censuses note family members' arrival in Canada as being 1891, so most likely they had only just arrived. Family history tells that the climate there was considered more beneficial than the dust of Texas. The census shows William was working as a butcher and Thomas jun. as a boiler-maker.

Victoria, BC. Early part of 20th century<sup>21</sup>

There was certainly still a desire for emigrants to come to Canada at that time.

Hon, H. Holdbook, of Parkgate, late Minister of Works, British Columbia, spoke of the great important of our solonial empire to the working men of the country, seeing that the colonies absorbed about £82,000,000 of their labour. The question of Impension of the day, and was quite independent of English party politica. The returns from the Canadian Minister of Agricultus shewed that in 1887 the emigrants to Canada we 175,539. Of these $4,526 became settlers, as according to Whitaker's almanac the number from Great Britain amounted only to 32,025, thus shewing how comparatively few in this country were taking advantage of the great wealth of Canada, which we really their inheritance as Englishmen. There were a fewer than 200,000,000 acres of rich land awaiting settlement in Canada, while the whole acreage of Ireland amounted only to some 20,000,000. So the Family history tells that Tobias was the first to come to Victoria and recommend it to Thomas. However, there is no clear evidence to support this. He is first appears in the 1901 census (twice, once as a fruit grower and once as a tailor)<sup>23</sup> and gives conflicting arrival dates (1890 and 1892). He died in Victoria in 1916<sup>24</sup>.

Thomas sen. died in 1892<sup>25</sup>. Perhaps it was too late for the purer air to have an effect!

Thes. Kipling, a native of Durham, England was buried from the family residence on Humboldt street, Sunday afternoon. The British Columbia Society of Spiritualists, of which deceased was a member, conducted the services, Mrs. Mayo-Steares officiating. The invocation at the grave was singularly elequent and touching.

It would appear that Thomas and Anne had become Spiritualists, a religion she also claims in the 1901 census. This accords with family history, which relates that greater freedom to adopt an evangelical Christian outlook was another motivator of the original migration.

A month after Thomas' death, Annie married Thomas SPARKS. 26

Thomas married Emily Jane TYACK in December 1895 and, as the cutting below says, set off immediately to make home in Texas<sup>27</sup>.

Ar the early hour of 6.30 yesterday morning a wedding ceremony was performed at Christ Church cathedral, Rev. Canon Beanlands officiating, and Miss Emily Tyack became the bride of Mr. Thomas Kipling, formerly of the harbor department. After the ceremony a substantial breakfast was served at the house of the bride's mother on Humboldt stree, and after receiving the hearty congratulations of their assembled friends the newly wedded pair left by the Rosalie for Fort Worth, Texas, their future home. The bridesmaids at the very early wedding were Miss Foster and Miss Laurie, while Mr. F. W. Stubbs performed the duties of groomsman.

In 1897, Thomas was involved an accident in Victoria, again associated with a bridge, for which he received compensation,<sup>30</sup>

BRIDGE REPAIRER'S INJURIES.

Thomas Kipling stated that while employed in repairing Rock Bay bridge he had received a bad electric shock. He asked the city to compensate him for 12 days' loss of time and pay his doctor's bill. The accident, he explained, occurred on June 29, while he was employed as engineer on the hoisting cable. The cable "crossing" with the trolley wire of the tramway company charged the entire engine with electricity, the engineer receiving a violent shock, being thrown down and struck several times by the main rod.

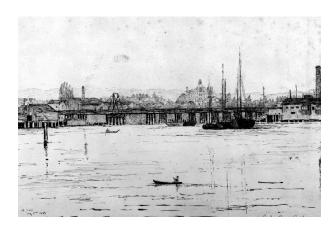

Dr. O. M. Jones certified to the nature and extent of Mr. Kipling's injuries, while City Engineer Wilmot, by request, submitted a report on the case in which he maintained that the accident had not arisen through any negligence on the part of the corporation.

on the part of the corporation.

As Mr. Kipling asked only for compensation for lost time, and payment for his medical attendant, a number of the aldermen were in favor of paying his claim at once. This it was held by others, however, might establish a dangerous precedent, and the communication with the documents attached was finally referred to the streets committee for a report.

The streets committee submitted a report in connection with the claim of Thos. Kipling, who met with an accident at Rock Bay bridge, and recommended the payment of $35. Report adopted.

That same year, he made an interesting invention<sup>33</sup>.

Of Benefit to Babies.—An automatic rocking cradle, designed to while away the babyhood hours of blinking eyed pink and white tots inclined to restlessness, and thereby save many meary moments for tired mothers, will be on exhibition all to-day at Weiler Bros.' furniture house on Fort street; and numbers of innocent little ones are expected to drop around, escorted by approving mammas, and inspect. "The cradle runs by clock-work," says the inventor, Mr. Thomas Kipling, a resident of Victoria, "and it will save the arms of mothers; bring gladness to the hearts of paterfamilias and relieve his nights of many infant-voiced horrors." Questioned as to what moved him to the invention, Mr. Kipling only smiled and hastily turned the conversation into other channels. He will be present during the exhibition, however, and it may be, will then explain that Pateresting point.

Perhaps the answer to the article's question came in 1900, when Thomas and Emily had a son, Rudyard Thomas<sup>34</sup>. Later, they had daughters Mildred and Ruth as well<sup>35</sup>.

In 1901, Margaret, Mary and Isabella are still in Victoria, the former two working as servants and Isabella as a nurse<sup>36</sup>. Subsequently, Margaret appears to have married a JOHNSON and in 1920 is living with Mary, now

Mother Anne died in October 1905, whilst visiting John who had remained in the US (Roswell, NM). Her body was returned to Canada. On Sunday afternoon the remains of Mrs. Thomas Kipling, who died at Foswell, New Mexico, on September 30, arrived by the steamer Whatcom. The deceased lady was very well known in this city, having resided here a number of years. She leaves six children to mourn her loss — Mrs. Thomas Sparks and Thomas Kipling of Victoria, Mrs. Johnson of Vancouver, and three living in the United States. The funeral is arranged to take place today at 2:30 p. m. from her son's residence, 36 King's road.

In 1895, David is recorded playing lacrosse and the last reference to him is in 1902, when he became junior beadle of the Ancient Order of Foresters in Victoria<sup>39</sup>. The following year, he is not mentioned in the similar list. His death is not recorded in BC nor can he be found there or elsewhere subsequently. It therefore appears possible that he died between late 1902 and late 1905.

John, who remained in the US, married Emma, 15 years younger than himself<sup>40</sup>. He died between 1920 and 1930, the latter census showing Emma, now a widow, still in Roswell, NM<sup>41</sup>. They do not appear to have had children. John was for many years a confectionary merchant, although family history tells that he was also into liquor running during Prohibition.

Charles, who was working as a 'smelter man' in 1901<sup>43</sup>, also moved back south but in 1905 was the unfortunate victim of a fatal accident<sup>44</sup>.

An explosion in the engine room of the Los Angeles Interurban railway power house, located on Georgia street between Eleventh and Pico streets, caused by a defective valve in one of the boilers, badly scalded the face and hands of Engineer Charles G. Kipling of 1234 West Eleventh street, and fractured the left leg of Fireman Fred Leiser of Boyle Heights yesterday afternoon shortly after 1 o'clock.

In some unknown manner a leak was sprung in a portion of the steam chest. This allowed steam to accumulate beneath the jacket surrounding the steamchest and the explosion followed.

The injured men were placed on a special car and hurriedly removed to the receiving hospitals. Police Surgeons Bonyage and Smith attended the wounded men and later had them removed to the Sisters' hospital, where it was stated that both men would recover.

His "Woodmen of the World' grave is in Oak Hill Memorial Park, Escondido, CA<sup>45</sup>.

His wife, Edna, had remarried by 1910<sup>46</sup>. The daughter was Irene Kipling, later Irene KIMBLE<sup>47</sup>.

By 1900, William too had returned to the US, butchering in El Paso TX, and was married to Flora (nee LAW) with a 1 year old daughter Berta<sup>48</sup>. In 1910, the three were in Houston<sup>49</sup>. Family history says he died in 1916 and, in partial support of this, the 1920 census shows Flora living with Berta, now married<sup>50</sup>. However, Flora is shown as divorced, not widowed. Further investigation is required.

Sometime after 1911, Thomas and Emily also moved to the USA, where the 1920 census finds them and their two daughters living in Burbank, CA, Thomas being now a "stationary engineer" at an "ice company"<sup>51</sup>. He became a naturalised US citizen in August 1927 and his certificate<sup>52</sup> tells us some useful facts, including confirming that the family first emigrated to the US in 1879 and that they travelled on the Tutona from Liverpool to New Orleans. I have been unable to identify a vessel called Tutona.

Family records tell that Thomas died in 1928, after which Emily returned to Victoria, where she died in 1932<sup>53</sup>.

Daughter Ruth also moved back to Canada, where amongst other things she was involved in Canadian Girls in Training (CGIT) for many years<sup>54</sup>. She never married and died in 1998.

Rudyard Thomas appears not to have moved to the US. He became a school teacher in Victoria<sup>55</sup>. He married Murray STEWART in 1925<sup>56</sup>. They had one child, Barbara Ann Kipling, born 1934, who is a locally renowned artist<sup>57</sup>.

6. The 1944 Legal case

In 1939, Emily Kipling, widow of Thomas jun, died intestate. There were problems over the settlement of the estate and in 1943 a number of relatives instituted an action against the insurers of the administrator<sup>59</sup>. They were:

Person	Position in Family
Annie SPARKS	nee Kipling, d of Thomas sen.
Ruth Tyack KIPLING	daughter of Thomas jun.
Rudyard Thomas KIPLING	son of Thomas jun.
Irene Kipling KIMBLE	daughter of Charles
Mildred Emily MILLER	daughter of Thomas jun. <sup>60</sup>
Isabel ORTWEIN	(a)
Elizabeth STEVENS	daughter of Mary Jane <sup>61</sup>
Anne HARRYMAN	daughter of Mary Jane <sup>62</sup>
Mary FUNDERBURK	(b)
William MACLEAN	son of Mary Jane
Margaret SCHUSTER	daughter of Mary Jane <sup>63</sup>
Alexander MACLEAN	son of Mary Jane

- (a) Isabel Ortwein can be found in the 1930 US census (b 1892 Texas, father American, mother English)<sup>64</sup>. She is most probably Isabella Kelly.
- (b) No record can be found linking to FUNDERBURK (Mary McLean is, however, otherwise untraced)

Some loose ends remain to be tied up!
